A vivid visual look at college football stadiums across America

Every autumn Saturday, millions of Americans watch their favorite college football team in action on the gridiron. Your alumni association will be very interested in a new, must-have book now available called Autumn's Cathedrals, A Pictorial Tour of Division I-A College Football Stadiums.

Never before have college football fans had the opportunity to own such a unique coffee-table resource. This hard-bound edition is filled with over 150 vivid color photos and vital historical facts of all 117 Division I-A college football stadiums across the land. They are all here—including Arkansas' Razorback Stadium and others—from the legendary Notre Dame Stadium to the mammoth football venues of Michigan, Penn State, Tennessee, and Ohio State. Anyone shopping for the college football fan will appreciate what a great and enduring gift Autumn's Cathedrals will make.

College football authority, Coach Vince Dooley, Athletic Director for the University of Georgia, gives Autumn's Cathedrals two thumbs up, "I am proud to endorse this much needed compilation. The work will be a valuable coffee table reference for many football fans."

For a limited time only, Razorback football fans will have a chance to purchase this great sports book. The publisher is donating 25 percent of the proceeds from your purchase to your alumni association. Ordering is simple.
